

THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE

AND FRANK VINDICATOR

VOL. I NO. 8

BLAIRMORE, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 15, 1910

$2.00 YEARLY

MAR ON

General Merchandise
Groceries & Hardware
A Specialty

WE Handle the Best Goods at the Best Prices.
Don't forget that Plumbing and Tin-smithing is neatly and promptly done at our shop. No order too big none too small to receive our prompt attention.

MAR ON

BLAIRMORE ALBERTA

For the best

MEATS OF ALL KINDS
Do not fail to patronize

"41" MEAT MARKET.

Limited.

A local concern catering especially to the Crows Nest Pass trade.
Special attention given to the wholesale trade.

200 MEN'S SUITS

just put in stock

These suits are the famous Faultless
Brand and for Value, Fit and Wear cannot be beaten.

We have the sole agency for this clothing in The Pass and we would like you to call and see them for yourself.

We have Fancy Tweeds at $9.00, $10.00 $12.00, $13.50, and $15.00. Navy and Black Serges at $12.50, $15.00, $18.00 and $24.00. Our guarantee goes with each of these suits.

HARVEY MURPHY
FRANK - - - BLAIRMORE

WHITE & COLE

PAINTERS & SIGNISTS
WILL SIGN ANYTHING

Paper Hanging,
House Painting,
Carriage Painting,

and
FINISHING ALL HOUSEHOLD GOODS.

Leave your orders at

BLAIRMORE ALTA.

FRANK BLACKSMITH SHOP

One door west of Miller Livery barn.

J. GRESHAM, prop.

Horrie shoeing a specialty.

Over seven years experience in His Majesty's army.

All kinds of Wheelright work done on the premises.

Never-Slip Shoes and Caulks always in stock

Agent for Canada Carriage Co's Brckville Buggies and all kinds of Implements.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $10 per acre. Not more than 2,000 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights are applied for an area.

In unreserved territory the land must be described by section, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unreserved territory the tract applied for shall be stated out.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $10, which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available for lease. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

Every Lessee of coal mining rights, who is not being operated shall first obtain the consent of the Dominion Lands with a sworn statement to that effect at least once in each year.

The lessee will include the cost of the rights only, but the lessee may be required to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 in acre.

For full information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. Cory,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any unincorporated section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, excepting a and 36, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person who is sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry must be made for land at the local land office for the district, in which the land is situated.

The homesteader is required to perform the conditions connected herewith in the case of the following plans:

(1) At least six months residence upon cultivation of the land, and in each year of the three years.

(2) If the father (or the mother, if the father is deceased) of the homesteader resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of the homestead, the requirements as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Six months notice in writing should be given to the Commissioners of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of intention to apply for patent.

W. W. Cory,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

APPLICATION FOR A NEW HOTEL LICENSE

Application has been made by T. H. Duncan for a license in respect to the Pambour Hotel, to be erected according to plans and specifications filed in the Department of the Attorney General, on the south-west quarter of section 1, township 1, range 1, west of the 5th Meridian, Province of Alberta.

This application will be considered by the Board of License Commissioners at a meeting to be held at Blairmore, on Tuesday, January 19th, 1910, at 10 o'clock A. M.

Dated at Edmonton this 10th day of November, 1909.

A. A. Woods,
Deputy Attorney General.

Jack Pigeon, who is to box Jack Clarke in Coleman on the 17th, is doing his training at the Summit Hotel, Crows Nest, while Clarke is doing his daily road work in the prairie city, Lethbridge.

MINING NEWS

Blairmore Mine Now In Twenty-five Hundred Feet---Fine Coal.

The Blairmore mine, which was opened up last June on the South side of the railway, is progressing favorably and at the present time the main entry has reached a distance of about 2500 feet. This entry is on the No. 1 seam and is a first class steam and coking coal. This seam is on an average of about 7 feet in thickness and has a splendid hanging and footwall with a pitch of about 45 degrees. This seam of coal is to a great extent free from rock and other impurities. With this tunnel advanced into the mountainside twenty-five hundred feet there will be a lift from the face of the entry in the vicinity of one thousand feet. On this seam practically all the work has been done during the last four months. There are four other workable seams of the same quality of coal on this property, three of which have been prospected during the last summer and the work is still being carried on with good results. A few years ago the No. 2 seam on the Northern side of this property was opened up by Mr. Proctor, of Nelson, and Mr. Fishburn of Chicago. This mine was worked during one summer and the coal was taken by teams from the mine to the railway, which was about half a mile distant from the mine and under this slow method hundreds of tons of coal were shipped to Nelson and other points for testing purposes and all declared that the coal was equal to any they had ever used.

With a coal mine on the south and north of our village and within a few miles of the railway it is no wonder that mining experts and citizens generally look forward to a prosperous future for the village of Blairmore.

The Cement Industry

The Rocky Mountain Cement Company are now turning out large quantities of cement. The cars that convey the lime rock into the plant can be seen from our office, rushing to and from the great hillside, where they are loaded with rock to be dumped into the mammoth crushers along with the shale and coal. This plant started to operate a few days ago and the machinery is all that can be desired. The plant has a capacity for the manufacture of 500 barrels per day and with sufficient raw material at the doors of the plant to last for ages the proprietors and owners are indeed fortunate in securing such a splendid site and such an immense deposit of all the raw material that is required for the manufacture of cement. A century of operation by this huge plant will hardly mark the large mountains of shale lime rock and coal that is right at hand and there can be no reason why this plant cannot be one of the best paying investments in Western Canada. Besides manufacturing cement this company furnishes the village with electric lights at very reasonable rates. Previous to this company starting up their electric plant it was difficult to find your way around the village at night, now, with our great are lights along the main street and smaller lights on the avenues, there is no difficulty at any hour of the night for travellers to find their way to any part of the village.

ACCOMMODATION

Railways Must Provide
Agents and Stations
In West

Ottawa, January 12th--The railway commission today heard the argument from representatives of the railway companies in opposition to the suggested order of the board prohibiting brakemen from riding on the top of freight cars, and reducing the height of bridges over tracks from the present minimum of 22 and a half feet to 17 feet or to a height sufficient to permit the highest freight cars to pass thereunder. The object of reducing the height of the bridges was to minimize the expense of construction of the new bridges in connection with the movement to eliminate grade crossings.

The railway representative, however, opposed any change from the present regulation, on the ground that it was frequently necessary for brakemen to ride on the top of freight cars, especially within the limits of cities or towns, in connection with shunting operations. The board seemed to concur in this view, but before a definite decision is given as to maintaining the present minimum height for all bridges the question will be further considered by the engineers of the commission.

An order was made requiring the railway companies in the prairie provinces provide, within six months time suitable buildings for the accommodating of passengers freight at all flag stations where annual earnings total $15,000 of which at least $2,000 must be on inbound freight and also requiring the appointment of temporary agents to receive and forward grain during the shipping season from September 15 to December 31, each year at all points in the west where the shipments last year reached 50,000 bushels.

LILLE NOTES

Thompson & Co. have lately adopted the Huber account register system, which is the most up-to-date book keeping system we know of.

Inspector Belcher paid Lille a visit on Tuesday.

The Misses Williams left this week for Calgary where they will attend college.

T. Evans, son of W. O. Evans, of Frank, has left here to attend Western Canada college at Calgary.

J. W. May and family visited McLaren's mill on Sunday last.

"The Bonnie Briar Bush"

The Bonnie Briar Bush will be presented in Frank, on January 19th, at the opera house. It appears as though Ian McLaren's story of the Bonnie Briar Bush will never grow old. Its success has been and is still phenomenal but it is nevertheless not a success that cannot be accounted for. Of all the good plays that have graced the stage, the Bonnie Briar Bush is one of the best and purest. It is a story of human interest, unfolding a life's chapter to the simple Scottish glen, so true to nature and life as to appeal with irresistible force to the audience. It is a comedy drama which, like good wine, improves with age. It is fragrant with the heather of "Bonnie Scotland" and is enlivened with pointed yet harmless Scottish wit.

Pianos and organs tuned and repaired. Address, J. R. Crawford, P. O. Box 11, Coleman. All orders promptly attended to.

ANNUAL RETURN

Returns For The Village of Blairmore For The Year 1909

Annual return for the year 1909, made under the provisions of section 66 of the Village Act, for the village of Blairmore.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Income, taxes current	$711.59
Taxes Arrears	5.50
Restaurant & Hotel License	50.00
Dog Tax	39.00
Pool Table	15.00
Pool Tax	201.00
Peddlers	40.00
Shows	40.00
Sundries	3.35
Union Bank Note	1000.00
Over draft	116.22
Over credit	90.11

Total 2311.77
Arrears of taxes for 1909 198.10

EXPENDITURE

Salaries	105.90
Com. on Collections	14.23
Improvements	1196.30
Fencing	3.01
Furniture & Tools	17.35
Ditching & Rep. Sidewalks	5.75
Robates	44.35
Robates	90.11
Sundries	149.82
Balance Bt. Forward 1908	91.50

Total 2311.77
Balance, if any $116.22

Dated at village of Blairmore this 5th day of January, 1910.

W. A. Beebe

Sec.-Treas.

Certified Correct,

T. B. Smith,

Official Auditor.

The Carnival

The carnival held in the Blairmore rink on Monday night was very well attended. Miss Christina Sunstrom carrying off the first prize as the best dressed lady. Sam Beard took the prize as best dressed gent. Tug Wilson as best comic costume took the prize. E. Bonnis, as Happy Hooligan, took the prize as the best dressed boy in comic costume.

Bridge Crew at Work

Mr. Stein and his crew, who have been sent into this section of Alberta, are busy these days preparing the timbers for the temporary bridge across the Old Man river between this village and Frank. When the temporary bridges are completed they will then swing the iron bridges in line with the surveyed wagon road. With these two bridges straightened out we will have a very good road between the villages of Frank and Blairmore. Some people are of the opinion that the Government should maintain a fence in this district continually repairing our roads. Alberta is a great and growing province, settlers are coming in in large numbers and settling away from transportation and where large streams have to be crossed and they all require bridges and ferries in order to be able to get in to the markets. It is an utter impossibility to build all the bridges that are required in two or three years but at the rate roads and bridges and ferries are being constructed, it will only be a short time until the provincial government will be able to meet the demand in this line.

TIRZY AND HER WOODERS.

A Ruse That Aided the Girl in Her Selection.

By FRANK H. SWEET.
(Copyright, 1903, by American Press Association.)

The last rays of the sun softened the girl's red hair into a golden halo as she sat upon the log, her bare feet showing beneath the hem of her cheap print.

On the log beside her was a sunbonnet, and pressing against the sunbonnet was the figure of an axe such as only a very strong man was accustomed to wield.

The girl was evidently resting after a day of hard labor, for deep around her were scattered the small, odorless pine chips, and on the other side of the log rose a huge pile of wood cut into two feet chunks to fit the regulation fireplace of the mountain log and mud cabin.

A handsome, powerfully built man had come down the mountain path barefoot and, as he seemed to think,

"I don't reckon there's but one man on the mountain who wears shoes steady," he observed sarcastically. "Maybe he'd marry you if you asked him."

"You mean Ground Hog?" flashed back the girl instantly. "Well, he asked me last Tuesday, and I told him, like I told you, I'd study it over a spell."

Hoke looked at her incredulously for a moment, then threw back his head in a roar of laughter that echoed through the forest.

"Told him you'd study it over," he ejaculated between his bursts of merriment. "Told Ground Hog that? Ho, ho, I'll sure have to tell all the boys know."

Then instantly he became sober. "Why, Tirzy," he remonstrated. "It's scandalous! You're the handsome and powerful girl on the mountain and the best worker. Any man would be glad to have you."

"And he," contemptuously, "he's just an outside connoisseur, coming here and peering in and digging in the dirt the whole enduring day, and he totes his truck full down into the valley on his own back and peddle it round."

Hoke looked at her for a moment, then he said: "You're a smart one, Tirzy. But he does wear shoes," he concluded, "prolonging the word steadily."

"You're going to study it—'bout'—'bout'—"

"Yes, I am," quietly. "He knows how to work and ain't scared of 'em. And up where he comes from women look out more than men."

"Up there the men folks look out for the women," he said.

The man was at least six feet tall, and his sunburned arms, projecting from the short sleeves of his faded blue shirt, were large and muscular, fully in proportion to his other impressive dimensions. The muscles of his forearm ran down his arms like steel bands, and his shoulders seemed ever so slightly bent owing to the muscular development that caused his shoulder blades to project.

His very movements bespoke his great power, but the expression in his face, in his eyes and the drooping lower jaw were evidences to the keen observer that the newcomer was not particularly ambitious. And his clothes, continued the statements, had not been too cheap and worn—that would have been to no man's advantage—but the knees of his trousers needed patching and brushing, and, furthermore, his ragged, sunken face gave him a general appearance of unkemptness. Like practically all of the mountaineers and woodsmen of the vicinity, he wore a sun-burned, and years of barefoot tramping had made the soles of his feet almost as tough as leather, so that he could walk or run over stony roads and mountain paths without the slightest inconvenience or pain.

"The girl was leaning forward wearily, her chin in her hands."

In the sunlight her hair was beautiful, and her form, even in its dejected attitude, was graceful and pleasing.

The only appearance of feminine ornamentation was a pitiful attempt at a ruffe on the sunbonnet.

In spite of the arduous nature of her existence, which, of course, had not contributed to her physical advantage or development, the girl was undeniably pretty, and she had a certain grace in her movements which was decidedly uncommon to the poverty-stricken region where she had spent her life.

"Don't stand there gawkin' at her, Hoke," at last called the girl pettishly, but without raising or raising her head. "You ain't no scared rabbit to putter round over the moun' and stare at her like that. I asked her to look at it. How's that?"

"Tolerable," answered the man as he came forward. "But you ain't no scared to look at Tirzy, for 'tain't so. I've come clear from Lake to ask you what I asked her last week. When are you going to marry me?"

"Don't know as ever," shortly.

"But your daddy's dead," earnestly, "and your cabin's plumb two miles from any other. You can't live here."

"And why not? I'll live here till I die. And don't I help father build the cabin, cutting and toting the logs and musking the mud myself? And did any man on the mountain ever cut more fireplace wood in one day than that? Rising suddenly, to her feet and flinging out her head toward the sky, she said:

"Hoke surveyed the wood instantly, appreciatively."

"No, I don't reckon I ain't did no much cut in one day, Tirzy," he acknowledged, "though I ain't sayin' but lots of men could if they set out."

"Yes, that's just it," scornfully. "If they set out, but men folks here haven't got out to do nothing but hunt cubs and drink still whisky and smoke cornucop pipes. It's the women who work truck patches and chop wood and milk cows and do everything else that's sure enough work."

"But what's the use talking," dropped Tirzy across again listlessly. "There's no difference between you men folks. I think a heap of you, Hoke, like I said just now. You're big and good natured, and the handsomest man round, but all you've got in the world is a ruffe and four dogs and a tumble-down cabin that's scarcely fit to live in, and I'll sure have to tell all the boys know that you could drink more corn whisky than any man on the mountain and not show it."

"And you go barefoot, too, Hoke. Maybe I'll have to marry somebody sometime, but I used to say when a girl said I'd never marry a man who didn't wear shoes steady."

Hoke looked down at his feet reflectively.

"I don't reckon there's but one man on the mountain who wears shoes steady," he observed sarcastically. "Maybe he'd marry you if you asked him."

"You mean Ground Hog?" flashed back the girl instantly. "Well, he asked me last Tuesday, and I told him, like I told you, I'd study it over a spell."

Hoke looked at her incredulously for a moment, then threw back his head in a roar of laughter that echoed through the forest.

"Told him you'd study it over," he ejaculated between his bursts of merriment. "Told Ground Hog that? Ho, ho, I'll sure have to tell all the boys know."

Then instantly he became sober. "Why, Tirzy," he remonstrated. "It's scandalous! You're the handsome and powerful girl on the mountain and the best worker. Any man would be glad to have you."

"And he," contemptuously, "he's just an outside connoisseur, coming here and peering in and digging in the dirt the whole enduring day, and he totes his truck full down into the valley on his own back and peddle it round."

Hoke looked at her for a moment, then he said: "You're a smart one, Tirzy. But he does wear shoes," he concluded, "prolonging the word steadily."

"You're going to study it—'bout'—'bout'—"

"Yes, I am," quietly. "He knows how to work and ain't scared of 'em. And up where he comes from women look out more than men."

"Up there the men folks look out for the women," he said.

The man was at least six feet tall, and his sunburned arms, projecting from the short sleeves of his faded blue shirt, were large and muscular, fully in proportion to his other impressive dimensions. The muscles of his forearm ran down his arms like steel bands, and his shoulders seemed ever so slightly bent owing to the muscular development that caused his shoulder blades to project.

His very movements bespoke his great power, but the expression in his face, in his eyes and the drooping lower jaw were evidences to the keen observer that the newcomer was not particularly ambitious. And his clothes, continued the statements, had not been too cheap and worn—that would have been to no man's advantage—but the knees of his trousers needed patching and brushing, and, furthermore, his ragged, sunken face gave him a general appearance of unkemptness. Like practically all of the mountaineers and woodsmen of the vicinity, he wore a sun-burned, and years of barefoot tramping had made the soles of his feet almost as tough as leather, so that he could walk or run over stony roads and mountain paths without the slightest inconvenience or pain.

"The girl was leaning forward wearily, her chin in her hands."

In the sunlight her hair was beautiful, and her form, even in its dejected attitude, was graceful and pleasing.

The only appearance of feminine ornamentation was a pitiful attempt at a ruffe on the sunbonnet.

In spite of the arduous nature of her existence, which, of course, had not contributed to her physical advantage or development, the girl was undeniably pretty, and she had a certain grace in her movements which was decidedly uncommon to the poverty-stricken region where she had spent her life.

"Don't stand there gawkin' at her, Hoke," at last called the girl pettishly, but without raising or raising her head. "You ain't no scared rabbit to putter round over the moun' and stare at her like that. I asked her to look at it. How's that?"

"Tolerable," answered the man as he came forward. "But you ain't no scared to look at Tirzy, for 'tain't so. I've come clear from Lake to ask you what I asked her last week. When are you going to marry me?"

"Don't know as ever," shortly.

"But your daddy's dead," earnestly, "and your cabin's plumb two miles from any other. You can't live here."

"And why not? I'll live here till I die. And don't I help father build the cabin, cutting and toting the logs and

JOE CHAMBERLAIN.

HELICS OF EXECUTION.

Joe Chamberlain on the Paris of His Leadership.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

THE ENTERPRISE, BLAIRMORE ALBERTA.

HELICS OF EXECUTION.

Joe Chamberlain on the Paris of His Leadership.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class in a panic, piling itself over the passions which have been the ruin of so many aristocrats. And, deserting their natural chiefs, they have taken for their leader a demagogic charlatan of a kind such as never before made a turning point in English history. We now have the House of Lords, and the great interests of the land, finance, and manufacturing, as the docile instruments of one who is dragging them to an ignominious suicide, and our country to a perilous fall."

The House of Lords is the subject of the pamphlet, "The Calumny of the House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

Under the title of "The Calumny of the House of Lords," Frederick Harrison, M.P., has written a pamphlet, "The House of Lords," which is now being published by the London Chronicle.

"We see," he writes, "the governing class

THE ENTERPRISE

Published at Blairmore, Alberta.
By The Publishers Job Print & News Company
J.D.S. BARRETT J.A. McDONALD
Manager Editor

Legal Advertising It costs a line for the first insertion and a cent a line each subsequent insertion.

Transient advertisements at same rates as legal advertising.

Local will be charged 10 cents a line for each insertion.

Commercial Rates made known upon application.

The Subscription is $2 per year, strict in advance; $2.50 a year if not so paid.

THURSDAY, JAN. 18, 1910.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS.

When it is an up-hill fight a man can only do his level best.

The new water wagon known as Local Option is the one you will not fall off.

It is better to have a foolish belief that comforts you than a wise one that pains you.

Many a rich man labors under the delusion that he can under himself by writing a cheque.

It does not worry some people to be wrong if they don't have to admit it.

There are lights on our main thoroughfare are a source of de- to our citizens.

A Russian professor has been sentenced to serve three months in a dungeon for criticizing the Russian army. And then some people say that criticism is O. K.

Watch Blairmore grow in 1910. With two large manufacturing plants and a first-class coal mine in operation, our village will soon grow into a town.

The provincial government have their bridge crews at work repairing the roads between our villages. This is what the people expected and they are not disappointed.

Cowley has come to the front with a man who wishes to enter a beer drinking contest. This man, no doubt, wishes to fill up on "Alberta's Pride."

Another carnival will be held in the near future in the Blairmore rink. Those who dress up for that event should, in all cases, wear a mask, and not remove the same until the judges have given their decision. There will be skating after the judges give their awards and all other skaters should take this as a warning and keep off the ice until prizes are awarded.

A Prospector's club has been organized in Spokane recently and already several of Spokane's mining men have expressed themselves as favorable to this organization. There is no doubt but an organization of this kind would be of great benefit to this section of the country. There are scores of prospectors throughout this part of the country who would be glad to have such an organization. They could meet from time to time and express their views on the different phases of mining and prospecting. An organization of this kind would be listened to should they suggest amendments to the mining laws where they deal with the discovery of minerals and the law in respect to the discovery of minerals certainly should be amended.

-By Our Horse Editor-

In the dim distant past when our present crop of pollywags were represented by antediluvian animals and coconut palms were crowding Peter McLaren's timber limits off the map, as many would like to see them now, when "Mark Times" was still awaiting that military escort to take him through the Pass like we went to jail last time, the rocks here were as soft as the heads, not hearts, of some of our leading citizens. When the Sanitarium was represented by a geyser instead of its present flow of excellent mineral water, several experts arrived to look over our coal possibilities. These experts were largely composed of Spokane capitalists, a capitalist is a man who knows a man who has some money that he can be parted from, and were given the glad hand by "old timers." This being the first excursion to the Pass, the visitors were royally entertained, dined on pemican, filled up on pain killer and tobacco juice and war dances held in their honor. The experts spread themselves over the Pass and expressed themselves highly delighted with the coal croppings and wrote home glowing accounts also for money to come back. While no actual sales resulted from this trip, the coal being apparently to young to pick, its results are seen today in some of our thriving camps and several fine blocks and residences in Spokane.

In those days the principle occupation in the Pass was dodging the police, which is still a thriving industry, and furnishing coffin varnish for the thirty inhabitants. Although, then as now, most could take a day off to knock each other's coal prospects, still most were kept comparatively busy and the man without a job had not yet developed into an anarchist.

Blairmore then was not much better than it is now and the bark of the coyote like the howls of those who supplanted him were heard nightly. The delinquent subscriber was not dreamed of and the man without the jag, like the man without the dollar now, had no place in polite society. Note the changes, the Cornwall has come and gone and its nightly jamborees are now supplanted by pink teas and whist parties.

Howard, instead of spending his time stuffing toothpicks in key-holes and spoiling Fishburn's beauty sleep, is busy tending his steam-heating plant and seating his guests in cushioned chairs, "how has the mighty fallen?"

Sparks, though the same "Old Abe," has little time left on his hands after attending to the wants of the many guests in his well filled hostelry and even the porkers on the island miss the two expert owners these days.

Even A. P. McDonald's mule, that at one time furnished the musical talent for the Pass, fell dead when he heard the new church choir, but Angus is still with us.

While the Pass has developed rapidly, Blairmore, the oldest town has held its own, and many other things that the town would be just as well rid of. Has all needed modern conveniences with the exception of a jail, which the government will be forced to furnish or go broke paying fares to Macleod.

Space will not allow of us telling of the leap frog and foot races held on our streets, but Archie McLeod has now become one of our leading stockbrokers and business men, while the Ede block is proof that even a member of the bar can accumulate money in this town. The old town is coming to its own which is the world with a sure thing around it and the Lord knows it is time. Sam Gobo, while he did not build the Pass may be called the father of it and besides started the town of Frank, opened our first mines, about which we will tell in our next issue.

THE LEITCH COLLIERIES, LTD.

Passburg, Alberta

Steam and Domestic Coal

High Grade—Uniform Quality

Head Office

Sales Office and Mines

Northern Bank Building, Winnipeg, Man.

Passburg, Alta.

Careful Attention to all Trade.

Correspondence Solicited.

Are You Interested.....?

If so come in and see our stock of

WINES, LIQUORS AND CIGARS

Native Wines and Old Port Wines French Claret and Sauternes

LIQUORS OF ALL KINDS

Canadian Rye Whiskey in Sazerac Walkers and Gooderich and Worts

Scotch Whiskey in John Dewars, Walkers, Kilmarnock, Birk's Black Bottle, Whitley's Liquors and several others. Rums, Gins, Brandy, Irish Whiskey Ale, Beer, Porter

FRANK WINE & SPIRIT COMPANY Phone No. 83

Blairmore Brick Yard

HENRY PELLETIER Prop.

All Orders Promptly Attended To

ricks Unexcelled in the West

Analysis of Clay Shale From Which Pelletier Brick is Made:

Fixed Water	10.10 p.c.
Silica	37.80 p.c.
Alumina	22.32 p.c.
Iron Oxide	3.68 p.c.
Lime	1.36 p.c.
Magnesia	1.19 p.c.
Alkalies	2.84 p.c.
Specific Gravity	2.56 p.c.
Moisture	1.1

W. A. BEEBE

Real Estate and Insurance.

Agent

Heintzman Pianos

ell Organs

and Pianos.

Blairmore, Alberta

Mar Joe

LAUNDRY BEST IN TOWN

THE FRANK BAKERY

Frank Alta

You can't afford to make bread when you can buy it so cheaply and of such excellent quality and

—FRESH EVERY DAY—

A fine line of biscuits, sweet breads and confectionery also carried.

L. ALLARD PROP.

B. C.

Laundry

Frank, Alta, THE FIRST CLASS LAUNDRY OF THE PASS.

Washing and ironing cleanly and neatly done at the lowest prices. House washing especially solicited. Our agent will call for and deliver washing promptly.

GIVE US A TRIAL

UNIQUE BARBER SHOP

GILROY & ROSE Props.

High Class Barbering Done

CIGARS, PIPES and TOBACCOS

Ladies' and Gents'

Clothes Pressed

and Cleaned

Blairmore - - - Alberta

A. McLEOD

Real Estate

Mining Broker

Money to Loan on Good Security.

Blairmore Town Lots For Sale

Ranches For Sale on easy terms.

Headquarters For

Pianos, Organs, and Hotel Fixtures. Agent for The British

American Live Stock Association. Commissioner for the Province of Alberta.

LAIRMORE GROCERY

FRANK MAINFROID, Prop.

GROCERIES & PROVISIONS

PRICES RIGHT

GIVE US A TRIAL

THOMAS B. MARTIN

ADVOCATE, NOTARY PUBLIC.

FRANK, Alberta

THE BLAIRMORE HOTEL

D. C. DRAIN Proprietor

OUR BAR IS STOCKED WITH

THE FINEST WINES

LIQUORS AND

CIGARS

Good Rooms. Good Meals

RATES $2.00 Per Day and up

FOR

MINING TIMBERS

RAILWAY TIES

FENCE POSTS

APPLY TO

G. W. BEARD

BLAIRMORE Alberta

R. T. KERR

SOLO VIOLINIST and TEACHER.

Engaging for concerts, balls, at homes, etc.

EXPENSES SUPPLIED "PASSBURG, ALTA."

The Bellevue Orchestra

Any size orchestra supplied.

If you want GOOD MUSIC for Balls, Banquets or Concerts, apply for prices to

W. F. CHAPPELL, Secretary, Bellevue, Alberta

WEST CANADIAN COLLIERIES LIMITED

High Class Coke Ovens, of the Bernard Type, in use at Little.

Miners of

STEAM, COOKING AND DOMESTIC COAL

MINES AT LITTLE AND BELLEVUE

Manager's office at Blairmore Alberta

P. Burns & Co., Limited

Choice Meats

both fresh and smoked

Turkeys

Ducks

Chickens

Geese

SHAMROCK CREAMERY BUTTER

Give us a trial

Thos. Appleby P. Niceforo BAKER

FRENCH

ENGLISH

ITALIAN

BREAD

MACARONI FACTORY

AKES & PIES

BLAIRMORE - - - Alberta

NEW RE TAURANT

FRANK ALTA.

Good Meals

OPEN ALL HOURS

CHAIN JACKSON - - - PROP.

H. Allie

FRESH BREAD SUPPLIED DAILY

T. EDE

Barrister, Notary Public Blairmore - - - Alta.

D. A. TAYLOR, M.D.C.M.

SPECIALIST

EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT Stafford Block, Lethbridge, Alta.

Office Hours—9:30-12 a.m. 2-5 p.m.; 7-8 p.m.

SPECIAL SALE

COMMENCING

JAN. 15TH TO JAN. 29th

We shall offer the whole of our
IMMENSE FURNITURE STOCK, PICTURES, CHINA, WARE,
CARPETS AND LINOLEUMS
AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES FOR

.....
.....
.....CASH.....
.....

Watch our window for Special Lines. Remember this is our first sale and we intend to be up to our reputation of giving a square deal to all. Every one who purchases $2.50 worth of goods will be given a chance to win a 6-hole cast iron range, valued at $55.00

Coleman Hardware Co.

COLEMAN,
Alberta.

THE INTERNATIONAL COAL AND COKE CO., LTD.

Operates the Denison Collieries
AT COLEMAN, ALBERTA.

Mines High Grade Steam
and Coking Coal.

Manufacturers of the Best
Coke on the Market.

MAKE MONEY EASY

If you would do so, invest in Town Lots in the most substantially founded and best business community in the Crows Nest Pass.

THAT PLACE IS COLEMAN.

Write to or apply at the head office of

THE INTERNATIONAL COAL & COKE CO., LTD.

At Coleman, Alberta.

Sanitarium Hotel

FAMOUS SULPHUR SPRINGS
Baths and Apartments Thoroughly Renovated.

Bar stocked with choice brands
WINES, LIQUORS and CIGARS

Offers First Class Board and Room to regular Monthly Boarders, at $25 per month. Transients, $1.50 per day.

ISAAC BERESFORD, Proprietor.

Livery & Feed Stable

TEAMING A SPECIALTY

J. H. MILLER.

PHONE No. 10.

Frank Alberta.

Union Bakery AND Grocery Store

BLAIRMORE, ALTA

Will Save You Money

Carries Highest Grades of Goods.

Best brands of canned goods, fresh fruits, celery, green vegetables. Everything for the table of the

Imported Italian Goods a Specialty

Canadian Coal Consolidated Company Limited.

FRANK, - - - ALBERTA

Miners and Shippers of Bituminous Coal

The Company carries three grades of Coal, screened, mine run and slack. The screened is unequalled for domestic or furnace use.

We recommend the mine run and slack for steam purposes, and can guarantee it to be clean and give absolute satisfaction.

NO CLINKER

We supply Rough Lumber, Slabs and Kindling Wood to residents of Frank. Slabs sawed to stove length delivered at $1.50 a load.

Colin Macleod

Solicitor,
Barrister,
Etc.

Macleod,

Alberta.

Queen's Restaurant

Tobacco, Fruits and Confectionery

J. LIN DONG

Open Day and Night. Splendid Meals. Next Blairmore Hotel

Alberta Hotel

A. A. Sparks Prop.

TABLE OUTFURNISHED IN WEST
Our Bar is Stocked With The Finest

Brands of Imported and Domestic Wines, Liquors and Cigars

Headquarters for Commercial

Men

RATES $1.50 per day & up

Orrin Allen

POOL ROOM

NEW STOCK OF PIPES, CIGARS AND TOBACCOS JUST

ARRIVED

Ralmer & Thomson

Barristers, Etc., Notaries Public
Solicitors for the Canadian Bank of Commerce

COLEMAN & BLAIRMORE
Blairmore every Thursday

VICTOR LEMIEUX

BARBER

Union Prices First Class Work

BLAIRMORE

Alberta

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that in accordance with the provisions of the Irrigation Act, the undersigned has filed the necessary memorial and plans required by sections 13 and 15 of the said Act, with the Commissioner of Irrigation, at Calgary.

The applicant applies for the right to divert the total available flow of water per second from a spring on the road allowance West of the S. W. quarter of section 36, township 7, range 4, west of the 6th Meridian, for domestic purposes and for the right to construct the necessary works, as shown by the memorial and plans filed, to enable the water so diverted to be used for the said domestic purposes on the N. W. quarter of Legal subdivision 3 of said section 36.

Dated at Blairmore, Alta., this 28th day of December, 1909.

WM. THIBODEAU,
Applicant.

Church Services.

METHODIST CHURCH—Pastor Rev. T. D. Jones. Frank, Sunday school at 2 p. m., service at 7:30 p. m., Bellevue, Sunday school at 2 p. m., service at 3 p. m. and 7:30. Hillcrest, Sunday school and service 10:30 a. m.

Every department is receiving careful attention and we ask your hearty co-operation. Every one made welcome.

BAPTIST CHURCH—Rev. J. Sergeant. Blairmore, Preaching service, 11 a. m. and 7 p. m., Sunday school and Bible class at 3 p. m., prayer meeting on Tuesdays at 8 p. m., Frank, preaching service at 3 p. m., Bible class and Sunday school at 2 p. m., Hillcrest, preaching service Sunday evening at 7 p. m. in the school hall.

PROTESTANT MISSION—In the Mission Hall, Blairmore, Rev. J. McNall, will hold preaching service at 3 p. m.; Sunday school at 2 p. m.; Lillo, preaching service, 7:30 p. m.

E. RADER

A. CERVO

Rader & Cervo Butchers

DEALERS IN

Beef

Pork

Veal

CEMENT ST.

BLAIRMORE

A MESS OF POTTAGE

The Surprise That Was In Store For Self Satisfied Fred.

By H. S. FRANK.

Copyright, 1928, by American Press Association.

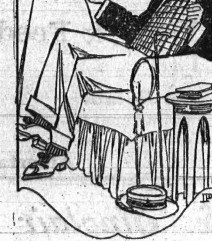

"The lilies were in bloom, and above them upon the limb of the big elm an oriole had hung her nest, and every day in the sunshine her troubadour mate sang to her of love and companionship and airy journeyings." From across the fields came the soft, freshly plowed ground and the breezy calls of men to their horses. In the meadow were the cacklings of hens and the peeping of many chickens, while from the pasture below came the lowing of cows to their calves. It was mid-May, and the wheat heads were still green with their thirteenth growing and the fence corners and roadways were cheery with their golden-orange of dandelions.

Elsie came to the kitchen door and looked out. The orioles were singing, and she ran lightly down the steps and around the house to the front yard, her sleeves rolled above her plump elbows and her cheeks flushed with the exercise of dishwashing. Her eyes were bright with sympathy for the perfect day and the surroundings, and as she looked up at the oriole her lips parted in a rippling little smile which she was to sing with her graduating class at the high school a few weeks later.

But at the front gate the song dropped to a lower key and then stopped altogether as a gray dressed young man strove himself from his horse and came jauntily toward her, with hat in hand.

"Good morning, Elsie," he began. "I am the old school train, but I had a good round and say goodbye to you. I haven't much time, you know, but you'll write, won't you? And I'll write and tell you how I get along. Everything'll be up there."

"Yes, I suppose so," Elsie answered slowly. "And I'll write." Her eyes had grown softer at his approach, and they looked troubled. They always looked troubled lately after a few minutes' talk with Fred. He was changing. His people had taken some boarders, and Fred was aping their manners. He wore cheap kid gloves and tried to imitate their way of walking. But they'll be up there, for I'm just a farm girl and like farm ways. I wish I could be ambitious like you, but the country is no beautiful. I feel about it like the oriole singing up in the tree. I'm afraid you'll think we are dull, Fred, and grow weary of us."

"WHENEVER TOLD ME THERE WAS TO BE A PARTY OVER AT HULL'S."

She watched him down the road to the corner of the next field, where he stopped for a moment to speak with Hank Burton.

When she went in her father was standing on the kitchen steps, signing his pipe.

"Who was that fellow, Elsie?" he asked.

"Fred Burton?"

"Yes, father."

"I thought so. Come to say goodbye, didn't he? Well, I'm sorry for old man Taggart. He sets the world by that boy. It's a pity too. Fred was the smartest fellow I ever knew at our time for a young chap, an seemed to have the makings of something unusual. But the smartness has all faded out now in his play."

"He looks all right," Elsie said.

"He looks all right," Elsie said.

"He looks all right," Elsie said.

"He looks all right," Elsie said.

"He looks all right," Elsie said.

"He looks all right," Elsie said.

man added to her father, who was moving away toward the barn, and then turned to her expectantly, with the color rising slowly to the roots of his hair. But set back by her father's out of hearing did he speak.

"Elsie," he began then hastily, "Fred just said goodbye to me. He'll be gone a long time."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

"Yes," Elsie said, "he's gone."

PRISON PLOTS.

Times When Wardens and Convicts Have Joined Forces.

A warden at Maidstone (Eng.) has been accused of joining forces with a convict to escape.

The charge is that the warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

The warden, who is named as a prisoner, was seen in the company of a convict, who is named as a prisoner, at a public house in Maidstone.

DUFFIN'S DREAM.

Late Dr. John Barr, M.P., Was Believed In His District.

The County of Dufferin is just being visited by a man who is believed to be a resident of the county and became so identified with its interests, both in private industry and public benefactions, that he was looked upon as a county institution. Some idea of the great popularity of the late Dr. John Barr, M.P., may be gained from the fact that in the county of Dufferin, where there is only one house to which he was not called in his capacity as medical adviser, and which is now a private residence, he was not situated in Dufferin, its nearest border being 10 miles north of Shelburne.

Upon the formation of Dufferin as a separate county in 1875, he became one of its first members of parliament, and with the exception of the short period when political lines were obliterated by the transient patronage of the late Dr. John Barr, M.P., he has been in public life ever since.

He knew the County of Dufferin better than any other man who ever lived in it, and hundreds looked upon him as a personal friend. He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

To those in trouble he always gave a helping hand, and he was never in his power to aid them in their difficulties, and although he accumulated a large fortune, he was never known to enter court to recover a claim.

As a public man, his influence was always exerted for the benefit of his constituents, and he was looked upon as a man of great character and high standing in the community.

He was a great dispenser of hospitalities, and the very antithesis of the man who is known for his supporters after the day of election.

TAUZE OF A GOOD ADDRESS.

Londoners Set Much Store by the District in Which They Live.

In the writing room of a London club, a man in a tuxedo was writing a letter while an American friend waited for him. Presently the man in the tuxedo took up the letter, and it is in an envelope and proceeded to address it.

"I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope."

"I thought I'd just been to an Englishman if I'd only seen you addressing an envelope," said the American. "I thought

LOCAL ITEMS.

J. E. McDonald arrived from Cobalt on Monday.

Mr. Bonty was a visitor in Blairmore on Tuesday.

Robert McVicar visited in Blairmore on Tuesday.

Rev. J. Sargeant was a visitor in Blairmore on Tuesday.

Henry Harris, of the North Kootenay Pass, was in town on Wednesday.

Wanted.—A Blacksmith, must be first-class. Apply to J. W. Gresham, Frank.

There is a club dance every second Tuesday, in the school house, at Frank.

Dr. Agnew, dentist, of Medicine Hat, is in town and is doing a large business.

WANTED.—A smart dining room girl. Apply to Mrs. J. D. Rudd, Bellevue.

Mr. and Mrs. Finlay McLaren and daughter were visiting in Blairmore on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Wilson has been staying at the Cosmopolitan during the past week.

Harry Matheson and Harry Kanasoff left for their coal prospects, on the South Fork, during the week.

Fritz Slek, proprietor of the Lethbridge Brewing Co., was a business visitor in the Pass towns on Tuesday.

Archie McLeod, our bustling real estate agent, reports that he is doing a good business since returning from the east.

WANTED.—IMMEDIATELY, A bright boy to learn the printing business. Apply at the Enterprise office.

Fred Robertson is opening up a first-class livery stable in town and will be prepared to do business in a few days.

Archie McLeod attended the auction sale at Lundbreck, during the week and reports that good bargains were to be had.

Thomas Prager visited Macleod on Monday and returned home the following morning. He reports that Macleod is growing rapidly.

E. W. Owen, manager of the Sun Life Assurance Company, visited our office on Tuesday. Mr. Owen is the manager for the province of Alberta.

The Evans Bros., of Bellevue, have started a bakery in that village and are prepared to supply fresh bread to the neighboring villages daily. See their ad.

A. Jones and J. V. Brawnder, of Calgary, two experienced men in the manufacture of cement, have accepted positions with the Rocky Mountain Cement Co.

John F. Wilson, of Coleman, has great faith in the future of our village and has let a contract to the firm of Frayer & Sinclair to build a large dwelling house.

Miss Mary Sunstrum is the successful candidate in the Lethbridge Herald contest in district No. 2. We are all pleased to know that our fair candidates won out in this contest.

Mike Noja died in the Frank hospital on Saturday last. He was taken ill with typhoid fever only a few days before his death. He leaves a large family in Russia to mourn his loss.

The dance given in Coleman on Friday night last, by the young men of that place, was a great success. About forty couples were present. Refreshments were served and all enjoyed themselves.

Mrs. Frank Carpalongo, who has been suffering during the past two years from an attack of inflammatory rheumatism and heart trouble, passed away, at her home at Blairmore, on Tuesday afternoon. The funeral takes place today.

The San Francisco opera house, on Tuesday evening last, attracted a large number of people from Frank and Blairmore. The failure of the company to play "The Time, the Place, and the Girl," caused much disappointment. The performance given, however, was well applauded and enjoyed by nearly everyone present.

F. W. Davis, of Conley, was a visitor in Blairmore today.

The hockey game between Frank and Michael was pulled off at Michael and the visitors easily triumphed the Michael crew. Frank has a fairly good hockey team but they should play at Blairmore before going abroad.

The Licence Commissioners for the Province of Alberta met in Blairmore today to consider the application of T. H. Duncan for a liquor license for his hotel at Passburg. This new village is growing so rapidly that it has need of a hotel. The required number of houses are there and all the law requires as far as granting a license is concerned but the commissioners looked into every detail in connection with the building and made certain recommendations to Mr. Duncan, which he will be expected to fulfill before his application is granted. Hotels, in future, throughout Alberta will have to be more up-to-date than in the past, more rooms will be required, some form of heat will have to be provided, either steam or hot air. The commissioners present at today's meeting were Thomas McKewen, of Olds, D. C. Bayne, of Banff, and O. F. Strong, of Edmonton. Mr. John Rae, acting Chief, of the province, and Mr. Whittaker, of Pincher Creek were also present.

Manufacturing Centre

During the past week F. Niccero installed the machinery for his macaroni factory in his shop on the corner of 8th, avenue and Main street. On passing along the street, the roar of machinery could be heard and we entered determined to see what new industry had struck our thriving village. We were shown through the establishment and were surprised to see all the machinery in motion, manufacturing macaroni. Those who have not seen this factory, or similar ones, in operation should call and see how this article is manufactured.

Evans Bros.

Fresh Bread
Confectionery
Wedding Cakes

Bellevue Alta.

Furniture

IRON BEDS
BUREAUS

WASHSTANDS

PRICES AWAY DOWN

J. Montalbetti

MAIN STREET

J. C. HART

Fernie, B. C.

Dealer in Wood,
Coal and CEDAR
FENCE POSTS

All kinds of drying done. Teams for hire

Phone No. 17 P. O. Box 330

NOTICE

THE LIQUOR LICENSE
ORDINANCE, APPLIC-ATION FOR BEER
HOTEL LICENSE

As it has been found necessary to change the date of the meeting of the Board of Licence Commissioners, which was called to consider the application of T. H. Duncan, for a license in respect to the Passburg Hotel, to be opened according to plans and specifications filed in the Department of the Attorney General, on the south-east quarter of section 16, township 7, range 4, west of the 5th Meridian, Passburg, Alberta.

NOTICE is hereby given that the said meeting of the Board will be held at Blairmore on Thursday, January 23rd, 1920, at 10 o'clock A. M.

Dated at Edmonton this 23rd day of December 1919.

S. B. WOODS,
Deputy Attorney General.

Undertaking

F. W. Davies has recently procured a hearse and should the residents of Blairmore and Frank have occasion to use the same, Mr. Davies will be pleased to offer himself and hearse at a reasonable figure.

To All

who keep HORSES

Try the NEVER-SLIP Shoes and Caulks.

The only Shoe Guaranteed Not to Slip

Always in Stock at the Frank

Blacksmith Shop

J. W. GRESHAM Prop.

The most up-to-date Blacksmith

Shop in the Pass.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that in accordance with the provisions of The Irrigation Act, the Rocky Mountain Cement Company, Limited, have filed the necessary memorial and plans required by Sections 13 and 15 of the said Act, with the Commissioner of Irrigation at Calgary, Alta. The applicant Company applies for the right to divert one cubic foot of water per second from a Spring Creek on the south-east quarter of section 35, township 7, range 4, west of the 5th Meridian, for industrial purposes and for the right to construct the necessary works, as shown by the memorial and plans filed to enable the water so diverted to be used for the said industrial purposes in the Company's cement works.

The following lands are also affected by right-of-way for the proposed works, viz:—the said south-east quarter of section 85 and the south-west and north-west quarters of section 86, in township 7, range 4, west of the 5th Meridian.

Dated at Calgary, Alberta, this 14th day of December, 1919.

The Rocky Mountain Cement Company, Limited.

W. J. BUDD,

Manager.

STOCK TAKING

Special Cash Discount

20 per cent off all

Dry Goods

Gent's Furnishings

Boots & Shoes

Crockery, Etc.

Hames

BLAIRMORE

ALTA.

Blairmore

Liquor Store

M. Rosse

Prop.

The Liquor Store

Of Quality

Guinness' Stout, I have no doubt, In either wood or bottle Or Base' Ale, can never fail To quench a thirsty thrapple.

Run, Gin and Wine are very fine Some people do their fear But there never was a draught That ever was quafed.

See agent LETHBRIDGE BEER.

SOLE AGENT

FOR THE FAMOUS LETHBRIDGE BEER WHICH IS ACKNOWLEDGED BY CONNOISSEURS TO BE THE VERY BEST

LAGER BEER IN CANADA. STORED IN MY

COLD STORAGE AT BLAIRMORE AND

ALWAYS IN FIRST CLASS

CONDITION

Phone Your Orders to No. 45 And You Can Depend Upon Prompt Delivery

The "2" Big Stores

When You Buy A Christmas Gift Buy Something Useful

See our assortment of Carvers, Cutlery, Pocket Knives, Scissors in sets, Skates, Hockey Sticks and Sleds

A Gillette Safety Razor makes a dandy Xmas Present.

Watch our "ad" and window each week. It will pay you.

The Crows Nest Pass Hardware Co. Limited

Blairmore - - - - - Frank

WATSON'S

Frank - - - - - Blairmore

DRUGS HOSPITAL SUNDRIES

Our celebrated Syrup of White Pine Compound is still a leader in the line of cough medicines. In home goods, our leaders are:

Maple Rolling Pins, First Grade, Revolving Handles 10c each
Knife and Fork Tray, Division centres 25c each
Nickle Tea Spoons 75c a doz.
Hat and Coat Racks 15c and 25c each
Knives and Fork in packages of 1 dozen $1.50 each
Real Japan Ware, Cup and Saucer $2.00 a doz.

We intend keeping a Bargain Counter all the year round. Selling for cash, we have no had debts to write off. Therefore we can sell cheaper to you.

There's A Reason

Remember WATSON'S Store

The Crow's Nest Flour & Feed Co., Ltd.

Wholesale and Retail.

Agents for The Macleod Milling Co's Celebrated Pantry Flour. Butter and Eggs a Specialty.

Blairmore, - - - - - Alberta

Frayer & Sinclair

CONTRACTORS & BUILDERS

Rough and Dressed Lumber, Sash and doors, Shingles and Lath

Estimates Submitted

ORDERS TAKEN FOR STORM SASH AND DOORS

Address all correspondence to Blairmore

Blairmore - - - - - Alta.

D. L. ROBERTSON The Blairmore Livery Stable

Bruneau & Houston, Proprietors.

Finest Turnouts in the Pass, Good Roadsters. Careful Drivers. Gentle Saddle Horses.

All kinds of Draying promptly done. Barn Phone, No. 73. House Phone, No. 163

Blairmore, - - - - - Alberta

NOTICE

The partnership heretofore existing between Frank Knight, G. H. Lemley and William and Thomas Frank Knight & Co. is hereby dissolved by mutual consent.

All parties having accounts against this firm are requested to present their bills to G. H. Lemley of Blairmore, within thirty days from publication of this notice, dated at Blairmore, this 14th day of December, 1919.

J. McNEIR
G. H. LEMLEY

Dr. G. H. MACCOLMSON

Physician & Surgeon
FRANK TELEPHONE NO. 9